In Loving Memory

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO THE GRADUATES—1982

The main problem with saying something meaningful to our graduates is that there is no stereotype to address. You are young, middle-aged and older. You are job-seeking, career-building and already-achieved. You are many colors from many places and you are handicapped and you are gifted.

So let me dwell upon my perception of how necessary all of you are to this society. You are, largely speaking, either in or going into public service; many of you into the myriad fields of criminal justice. It is timely for you since it is in these fields where the greatest needs of our society are found. As our economy goes through the throes of recession, unemployment and reordered priorities the already over-burdened criminal justice system becomes ever more jammed. The same economic devastation which contributes to the over-loading makes the hiring of additional criminal justice practitioners more and more difficult.

Into this difficult situation the degree-bearing graduate brings a competitive edge. He or she comes to the task with a clearer vocational focus, with a broader notion of the world, with a more sensitive understanding of the mysteries of human behavior and with the promise of being more productive than others.

It is with a strong belief in your value that I wish you well in all that you may do. You are an important part of this growing John Jay community and I urge that you keep that in your thoughts. There are many of you in every part of the country and we need you all.

—Gerald W. Lynch

Through the halls I wander looking here and there feeling proud of where I am a place where people care

I've spent part of my life here it has opened roads to take this higher hall of learning a future for me makes . . . . . .

Mary M. Rivera

Run by rapid world push me as you go but, where art thou going?
is there something I don't know?
Why do I walk while you run past me?
am I too slow as to adhere, that the end, of life is near . . . . . .

Mary M. Rivera

Without hope, and without dreams life is unbearable, or so it seems walking in a maze, not knowing where to turn freedom from this turmoil, is one I hope to earn

Freedom from life's bondage is not easy to obtain if ever I achieve it, I pray I reach it sane sane of all the illnesses this society may omit with determination to achieve and never quit

So here I am now, reaching out for my dream knowing once I do succeed, the life in me will beam. . . . . .

Mary M. Rivera

Pieces that I've placed together of my past dim and obscure, pains I never thought of suffering were forced upon me to endure

Waiting for the morning sunrise hoping the light would help me to see a bright and prosperous tomorrow without a trace of insanity

With asperation, overflowing in my heart as the faith of my God in me breathes, I pray to be contentful with whatever life
I lead and ask only for guidance, in my pursuit for inner peace .....

Mary M. Rivera

My heart was made so that I may feel My lips, so that I may say what my heart is feeling My ears, so that I may listen to my lips speak of What my heart feels
And my eyes to cry when the feeling touches me. . . . . .

Mary M. Rivera

Love can be good Love can be bad
It can make you happy or it can make you sad
It can last forever or just only a day
No matter what the length of time just be glad it came your way. . . . . .

Millie,

beautiful or ugly. You can never the freedom in your mind and soul.
